

Requirements for Topics and Language:

Topic:

Authors are encouraged to write about any topic that relates to business law and economic development.

The purpose of the articles should be to identify and describe an issue, state why it is relevant to the economy, and propose solutions that could be implemented by changes in legislation, case law, and government regulation.

These topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Entrepreneurship
- Knowledge-Based Economy activities
- Environmental protection and sustainable development
- Urban redevelopment and incentives
- Intellectual property
- Capital markets
- Consumer protection
- UCC
- Insurance
- Banking
- Energy
- Tourism
- Communications
- Manufacturing
- Bankruptcy
- Construction
- Healthcare
- Real Estate
- Taxation
- Education and business administration training
- Labor and Employment
- Employee benefits
- Alternative Dispute Resolution
- International trade
- Maritime
- Trust and estates
- Land use

Language:

The U.P.R. Business Law Journal will accept manuscripts in both Spanish and English that comply with the format requirements established in the Request for Papers.

Further information is available at www.uprbj.com.